IN MEMORIAM

Professor John W. Reed

1911-1963

Professor John Reed served Marion College as a teacher for sixteen years. To this responsibility he gave himself wholeheartedly. His study and teaching carried the marks of a true scholar. His questions were oftentimes thought-provoking and desirous of stimulating in the student a reason for a given belief or position.

As a counselor and advisor to students and their affairs, he entered into their life with enthusiasm. Professor Reed gave to the students and extra portion of interest and much of his own time and energy.

As a member of many faculty committees, Professor Reed made frequent valuable contributions. He had a special interest in the library as a center of our academic life. The work of several study committees in our preparation for self-improvement and regional accreditation bears evidence of Professor Reed's zeal and concern for the progressof Marion College.

Marion College has been enriched by Professor Reed's life. He was equally zealous for spiritual things as for scholastic and social interests. We have all shared freely in the warmth of his sympathy, the breadth of his understanding, the wholeheartedness of his commitment, and the zeal of his service.

Where will it all end?

The inevitable

Organization expresses well the aim of the activities the first week of the year. Counselors, students and faculty reassured, guided and led somewhat bewildered students through those first frustrating and hectic days of registration.

"I guess this is it--they're taking my money".

"I'm so sorry. I should know an itsy, bitsy freshman shouldn't step on the grass".

Derbies mean detoured freshmen

Initiation is inevitable for incoming freshmen. Blue derbies distributed the first day of the week identified the "lowly ones". Conformity in dress and the traditional trip down the fire escape made the week's activities memorable in the hearts of MC's freshmen.

Queen Naomi Sloan and her attendants Bonnie Randsdell and Pat Johnson

Homecoming Highlights

A first time attraction for this year's Homecoming was the lavishly decorated Queen's float sponsored by the Student Council.

The float became a throne for Queen Naomi Sloan and her two attendants, Pat Johnson and Bonnie Ransdell.

After the annual chicken barbeque dinner on the triangle and the parade, the Amphic and Eurekan football teams were the center of attraction. The Vikings whipped the Torchbearers 32-6.

During halftime the judges chose the Wesleyan Youth float, Dramatics Club float and the IRC float as first, second, and third place winners respectively.

The eventful day's activities were climaxed by the Alumni Banquet in the College gymnasium.

"Gloria In Excelsis"

Life size silhouettes representing the nativity scene carried out the theme, "Gloria in Excelsis," chosen for this year's Christmas Banquet on December 7.

After the turkey dinner with all the trimmings, the program that was presented told the story of Christ's birth and was presented in a series of tableaux.

Momentary confusion and intent concentration

Refreshing moments spiritually,

Our lives were enriched daily as we spent a few moments in Chapel. We received special blessings from God through the ministry of Rev. Edward Angell and Dr. Charles DeVol. These were moments of great victory and praise.

Dr. Kenneth Pike, serving the Lord as a staff member of the Wycliffe Bible Translators, gave students added insight into the works of this organization.

Culturally speaking, collegians were inspired by the Lyrical Trio of Chicago and by Dr. Theodore Ullman, concert pianist.

"Perchance to Dream", a one act play, was presented by the Dramatics Club for the entertainment of the audience.

Another of the college-College Church relationships is that of the Wesleyan Youth, more commonly known as WY. Heading the group is college junior, Don Bray. WY began action at the onset of the school year with an all-school singspiration under the stars. Following that have been several excellent gospel films. Interspersed with these have been guest speakers and talent programs

A message from the editor:

It has been been a long time and we have come a long way since we first began work on our annual. Our task, though difficult, was a pleasant one. We have taken pictures, arranged pages and sent our book to the publishers.

We are truly grateful for the untiring efforts of the staff, and the co-operation of the students and faculty.

But the greatest moments are yet to come--- when we look back through our book of memories. Your enjoyment of our production is the only real test of our success.

Sincerely, Jan Lindley.
